

Platforms for HAPIS application

Teen Living Programs

Teen living programs or TLP is a non-profit organization that has supported and strengthened Chicago's most vulnerable young people for over 40 years, with special attention given to 14-24 year olds who are experiencing homelessness. The program is meant to help them get back on track and start their new stable life.

Inside their community, homeless people learn how to find and reach for solutions that will take them out of their current state.

HAPIS can use the Liquid Galaxy Project to mark on the map centers where these people can be found, so that each one of us can donate or share our experiences.

Concr

Concr is a recreation of the emergency public service that wants to relieve the stress over the 911 and law enforcements for minor issues, by relying on the citizens and their kindness.

Not only for minor emergencies, HAPIS can help the users mark a homeless or a person in need by tagging them on a map, so that everybody that is using the app can pass by to help the individual in need, or just contact the person that made the announcement and trust them in doing the right thing in their name.

StreetChange

StreetChange is an organization that help the homeless people receive something they lack. From clothes to food, jobs or shelter, anyone can donate. By giving an tag, they receive a notification that one of their needs was taken over by a donor and they can come to a center and pick it up.

How I see HAPIS using it is very simple. Just like in the “moqups” document the user can pick a person in need and see in a table what they need. Each item will receive a completion status if multiple individuals decide to donate money for buying the specific object, or an auto-completed status if the donor will offer the entire item.
